

Law Firm in West Omaha Regency Westpointe Office Suite 100 of the Regency Westpointe building is not hard to find. Just off Pacific Street, along Regency Parkway Drive and a short walk from Regency Lake, it serves as the main Omaha office of Erickson | Sederstrom P.C., L.L.O., where clients from across the metro sit down with attorneys who handle corporate matters, estate plans, employment questions and business disputes. The location works well for a reason. It sits close to the I-680 and West Dodge Road interchange, a few minutes from Westroads Mall, and within easy reach of North 96th Street, which puts most of Douglas County inside a short drive. For a law firm in Omaha that has been serving clients since 1967, the Regency address reflects where much of the city's business life has moved. Don Erickson founded the practice in Omaha that year, and Charles V. Sederstrom joined as a partner shortly after. What began as a small practice grew into a full-service firm of more than 30 attorneys, with a second office in Lincoln at 301 South 13th Street. The west Omaha office remains the main office, and it keeps regular hours Monday through Friday, 8 AM to 5 PM. The legal needs that come through the door here mirror the neighborhoods around it. Rockbrook, Countryside Village, Loveland and Old Mill are full of families who have built careers and savings over decades and want a clear estate plan, whether that means a revocable trust as a probate alternative, durable financial powers of attorney, or health care directives. Office parks along the 108th and 120th Street corridors house owner-run companies that need a corporate lawyer for entity selection, governance, franchising agreements or a planned sale. Employers from Miracle Hills to Maple Street call about employee handbooks, wage and hour rules, and the expanded notice requirements under the Nebraska WARN Act, which the firm has written about for its clients.

Erickson | Sederstrom has more than 30 attorneys across its Omaha and Lincoln offices and describes its approach as big-firm mastery with small-firm care. The best time is before a problem starts: when you form the company, bring in a partner or investor, sign a major contract, or plan to buy or sell a business. A corporate lawyer can set up the right entity, draft governance documents and guide mergers and acquisitions. Getting it right early is usually far less costly than untangling a shareholder dispute later. Do I need an estate planning attorney in Nebraska? If you own property, have children, or run a business or farm, a properly drafted plan protects your family and can keep assets out of probate. Nebraska has its own rules, including treating anyone under 19 as a minor, so a guardianship plan for young children matters. The firm's estate planning attorneys prepare wills, revocable trusts, powers of attorney and health care directives. How long does probate take in Nebraska? Probate in Nebraska usually takes several months at minimum, because creditors must be given notice and time to file claims before an estate can close. Contested matters or complex assets can stretch that much longer. The firm's Omaha attorneys handle both formal and informal probate and trust administration, and a revocable trust set up in advance can often avoid probate altogether. What does an employment attorney do for employers? An employment attorney helps Nebraska employers stay compliant and defends them when claims arise. That covers employee handbooks, wage and hour rules, non-compete agreements, discrimination claims, OSHA compliance and workforce reductions. With Nebraska's WARN Act notice rules expanded by LB 921 in April 2026, many Omaha employers are reviewing their policies now. What is business litigation? Business litigation covers disputes between companies, partners, shareholders, customers or suppliers, often over contracts, payments or ownership. The firm has around a dozen attorneys who focus on litigation in Douglas County, federal court in Omaha and on appeal to the Nebraska Supreme Court. Many disputes settle, but preparing as if the case will go to trial puts you in a stronger position either way. Can an Omaha law firm help with matters in Iowa?
