What is a Live Casino?

At its core, a live casino is an online gaming platform that streams real-time table games from a specialized studio or an actual land-based casino floor. Instead of playing versus a computer system algorithm, participants connect with expert, human dealers by means of a live video feed.

The combination of advanced optical character recognition (OCR) technology allows physical actions-- such as a dealer spinning a roulette wheel or dealing cards in blackjack-- to be equated into digital data immediately. This data appears on the player's screen, making it possible for smooth wagering and real-time payments.

Key Components of a Live Casino Setup

- Game Studios: Specially developed rooms outfitted with expert casino tables, sophisticated lighting, and several video camera angles.
- The Dealer (Croupier): Trained professionals who handle the game, engage with gamers via live chat, and ensure fair play.
- Video Game Control Unit (GCU): A little gadget connected to every table that encodes the video broadcast and assists in equating physical actions into digital inputs.
- Monitor/User Interface: The digital overlay on the gamer's screen where bets are placed, chips are selected, and game statistics are shown.
