

You have waited patiently. And yet the response deadline has passed, and several guests have still not responded.

Pursuing with guests who have not replied is one birthday party event planner birthday planner malaysia birthday party planner kl of the most difficult aspects of party planning. But it is necessary to ensure you have accurate numbers for your event.

Here at Kollysphere, we have formulated 10 effective methods to follow up with guests who have not replied.

1. Send a Friendly Reminder

Fire off a welcoming prompt via electronic mail or messaging service. Keep the atmosphere informal and non-pressuring.

2. Pick Up the Phone

A personal call is often more successful than electronic correspondence.

3. Send a Text Message

A brief SMS is frequently the speediest approach to obtain a answer.

4. Use Social Media

If you are linked with the guest on social networks, a courteous DM can be effective.

5. Ask a Mutual Friend

If you have a common friend with the guest, enquire of them to courteously prompt the guest on your behalf.

Sixth. Dispatch a Follow-Up Nudge

If the maiden nudge receives no response, send a second one shortly afterwards.

7. Establish a Hard Cut-Off

Our experts advise fixing a ultimate deadline and communicating it unambiguously to all guests.

Eighth. Simplify the Response Process

Make it as simple as can be for guests to reply. Offer a hyperlink to an online form.

Ninth. Show Empathy

Remember that guests may have valid justifications for not responding without delay.

Tenth. Plan for Non-Responders

Eventually, you must have to set a last limit and plan in line with the replies you have received.
