

T Bone Crashes at San Antonio Intersections and Who Pays A car door and a few inches of metal. That's about all that stands between you and the front end of another vehicle in a side impact crash. T bone collisions, also called broadside or angle crashes, happen when one car drives straight into the side of another. They're common at busy intersections, and they tend to cause serious harm because the side of a car has so little room to absorb force. In San Antonio, the intersections that see these crashes are familiar names. The Aguirre Law Firm, PLLC lists Loop 410 and San Pedro Avenue, State Highway 151 and Loop 410, I-35 and North Loop 410, and Fredericksburg Road and Wurzbach Road among the city's dangerous spots. Add in heavy turning traffic along NW Military Highway through Castle Hills and the stretch of Blanco Road near Churchill Estates, and you have plenty of chances for a driver to run a red light or fail to yield on a left turn. Those two causes, red light running and failure to yield, are behind many T bone wrecks. So who pays? Texas is an at-fault state, which means the driver who caused the crash, through their liability insurance, is responsible for your losses. State minimums are $30,000 per injured person, $60,000 per crash and $25,000 for property damage. With broken ribs, a pelvic fracture or a head injury, those limits can run out quickly. That's where your own uninsured and underinsured motorist coverage, UM/UIM, can make a real difference. PIP coverage can help with early medical bills and lost wages regardless of fault. Fault itself is often the fight in a T bone case, since each driver may claim the light was green. Texas bars recovery if you're found 51% or more at fault, and reduces it by your share below that. Witness statements, traffic camera footage, the CR-3 crash report and vehicle damage patterns all help show who really had the right of way.

The Aguirre Law Firm, PLLC Address: 3015 Napier Pk, San Antonio, TX 78231 Phone: (210) 922-0808 FAQ About San Antonio Car Accident Lawyer How much do lawyers take from a car accident settlement in Texas? Most Texas car accident lawyers work on contingency, so their fee is a percentage of what they recover and nothing if they lose. The Aguirre Law Firm, PLLC handles San Antonio car accident cases this way, with no upfront cost and no fee unless the firm wins. The exact percentage is set out in your written fee agreement before any work starts, so there are no surprises. How hard is it to win a car accident lawsuit? It depends on the evidence. Clear fault, a CR-3 crash report, photos, witnesses and consistent medical records make a claim much stronger. Founder Alex Aguirre spent the start of his career defending insurance companies, so the firm knows the arguments insurers use to deny or shrink claims and prepares for them early. Most cases settle, but the team is ready to go to trial when an offer is unfair. What is my San Antonio car accident claim worth? No honest lawyer can put a number on your claim without looking at the details. Value depends on your medical bills, future treatment, lost wages, the severity of your injuries and how clear the other driver's fault is. The Aguirre Law Firm, PLLC reviews all of this in a free consultation and explains what compensation may be realistic for your situation. What should I do after a car accident in San Antonio? Check everyone for injuries, call 911 and get the report number from SAPD or the Bexar County Sheriff's Office. Take photos of the vehicles and the scene, get witness details and see a doctor quickly, even if you feel fine. Then call The Aguirre Law Firm, PLLC at (210) 922-0808, which is open 24 hours a day. Can I recover compensation if I was partially at fault? Yes, in many cases. Texas uses modified comparative fault, so you can still recover as long as you are less than 51 percent responsible, although your award is reduced by your share of the blame. Insurers often push extra fault onto injured drivers after crashes at busy spots like Loop 1604 and I-10, and the firm works to challenge that with evidence. Should I talk to the other driver's insurance company? It's best not to give a recorded statement before you get legal advice. Adjusters can use casual comments like "I'm fine" to argue your injuries aren't serious. Alex Aguirre knows these tactics from his years on the defense side, and his team can handle insurer calls for you from the first day. How long do I have to file a car accident claim in Texas? Texas generally gives you two years from the date of the crash to file a personal injury lawsuit, and two years from the date of death for a wrongful death claim. Some claims, such as those involving a government vehicle, can have earlier notice requirements. Calling The Aguirre Law Firm, PLLC early gives the team time to gather evidence before it disappears. What compensation can I get after a San Antonio car wreck? You may be able to recover current and future medical costs, lost wages and earning capacity, property damage, pain and suffering, mental anguish and physical impairment. In cases of gross negligence, such as some drunk driving crashes, Texas law may also allow exemplary damages. The firm reviews every category so nothing gets left out of your claim. What if the driver who hit me has no insurance? Your own policy may still protect you. Texas insurers must offer uninsured and underinsured motorist coverage and personal injury protection, and PIP is included unless you rejected it in writing. The Aguirre Law Firm, PLLC reviews your policy for free and pursues every available source of recovery, including in hit and run cases. Do I need a lawyer for a minor car accident? If nobody was hurt and the damage is small, you may not need one. If you have pain, missed work or the insurer is disputing fault, a free consultation is worth the call. The Aguirre Law Firm, PLLC will tell you plainly whether your San Antonio crash needs legal help. How long does a car accident settlement take in Texas? Simple claims can settle in a few months, while serious injury cases often take longer because you need to finish treatment before the full cost is known.
