Types of Auto Shipping Services Available in Indianapolis

Indianapolis auto shippers offer a wide range of services tailored to meet the specific needs of customers. Here are the most common types of auto shipping services available:

1. Open-Air Auto Transport: This is one of the most common and affordable auto shipping options. Your vehicle will be transported on an open-air trailer, exposed to the elements. While it's a safe and effective option, vehicles will be more vulnerable to weather conditions and road debris.

2. Enclosed Auto Transport: For those looking for an extra level of protection for their vehicle, enclosed auto transport offers a more secure way to ship a car. Vehicles are transported in a fully enclosed trailer, shielding them from weather, road debris, and other potential hazards.
3. Door-to-Door Service: As the name suggests, door-to-door auto shipping involves picking up your vehicle from your specified location and delivering it directly to the destination. This service is incredibly convenient for those looking for a hassle-free experience.
4. Terminal-to-Terminal Service: This is a more cost-effective option, where both the pick-up and drop-off locations are at designated terminals. While this service might require a little extra coordination, it can help save on transportation costs.
5. Expedited Auto Shipping: In situations where time is of the essence, expedited auto shipping allows you to ship your vehicle faster than standard shipping services. This option is perfect if you have a tight deadline or need to get your car delivered quickly.
